

SULZER QUESTIONS EXCHANGE OFFICERS

Asks President Mahon if Big Trading in Can Stock Was Bona Fide.

TALKS OF LEGISLATION

Assures Delegation Mind Is Open on Incorporation and Call Loan Questions.

ALBANY, Jan. 31.—Gov. Sulzer conferred today with a delegation of officers and members of the Stock Exchange who attended a hearing to consider possible measures of legislation in regulation of exchange methods. President James B. Mahon of the exchange headed the delegation and the Governor questioned him closely regarding the heavy volume of trading yesterday in American Can stock.

The delegation was accompanied by John G. Milburn, counsel for the exchange, and included Charles H. Neumann, vice-president; H. S. Martin, secretary; F. K. Sturgis, Rudolph Keppler, Henry R. Pomeroy, D. G. Geddes, George P. Milburn, M. B. Fuller and Eugene Meyer, Jr.

Gov. Sulzer asked Mr. Mahon if he knew how many shares of American Can stock were bought and sold on the exchange yesterday.

"I don't really know," said Mr. Mahon. "Well," said the Governor, "I can tell you just 126,000 shares of this stock were bought and sold yesterday. Do you, as President of the exchange, believe that those transactions were bona fide and actually took place?"

Mr. Mahon said he was pursuing an investigation and had found one broker who had the names of 130 persons selling the canning stock, "showing that the transactions were bona fide."

"Wasn't it a sign of manipulation this enormous dealing in one stock during two days?" asked the Governor.

"Evidently something is going on on the inside which some one knows about and others don't, for large buying orders have been placed," said Mr. Mahon.

"Manipulation," said Mr. Milburn later, "as when a body of men through adjustment of selling and buying orders send the price of a stock up or down. Rumors of an extra dividend or some special trading in a certain stock cause a great amount of perfectly legitimate speculation."

"Of course you don't expect me to believe that trading in American Can was due to this," remarked the Governor. In the subject of incorporation, Mr. Milburn told the Governor the exchange was opposed to it.

"Such action would be fraught with disaster in every possible way," said the lawyer.

"The Canning Exchange is incorporated," responded the Governor.

But that doesn't accomplish anything," returned Mr. Milburn.

"Yet the people have an idea it would be good for the stock exchanges to incorporate," said Mr. Milburn.

The Governor made no offer to the delegation that the only points of difference between himself and the exchange over legislative measures are as to the incorporation of the exchange and the fixing of the maximum rate of interest for call loans. On both of these matters the Governor showed that his mind is open and that he is waiting to get complete information before drafting his legislation.

At the close of the hearing the Governor inquired:

"Are you gentlemen agreed that legislation incorporating the Stock Exchange would be desirable?"

"We are," was the unanimous reply.

"And as to fixing the maximum rate of interest for call loans?"

"We are," was the response, to which was added the emphatic comment: "They would be disastrous."

MORE TIME FOR MRS. SHONTS.

Court Gives Her a Month to Answer Detective's Suit for Pay.

Because of the serious illness of Mrs. Theodore P. Shonts at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum yesterday granted her one month more in which to file an answer in a suit by ex-Police Inspector W. W. McLaughlin now conducting a private detective bureau, to recover $17,000 for services.

The papers in the case set forth that the detectives were engaged on behalf of Mrs. Shonts by Mrs. Nettie Singer, sister of Mrs. Shonts' attorney, and that Mrs. Nettie Singer recently called up on the telephone and said the bill was just and that it would be paid from the proceeds of a sale of stock. The attorney did not disclose why the detectives were engaged, but an affidavit says that Mrs. Nettie Singer frequently gave orders as to the dates and places where the men employed by McLaughlin were to work on the Shonts' case.

FUGITIVE GETS THIRTY DAYS

Attempted to Escape From Police by Jumping Out Window.

Walter McAneny, who jumped through a window at Police Headquarters on September 21 in an attempt to escape, was before Judge O'Sullivan of General Sessions Court. Although McAneny had been brought to Police Headquarters in the first instance on a charge of burglary of the steamship. Attempted to prove that there was not enough testimony at hand to sustain such a charge before Justice O'Sullivan for attempting to escape from the custody of an officer, he pleaded guilty and got a sentence of thirty days in the house.

Walter McAneny jumped away from the detective who had him in charge at Police Headquarters, he leaped through a window and landed on a pedestal, Vincente Garafalo and broke Garafalo's leg. The detective jumped after him and several shots were fired before McAneny stopped. One of the bullets struck McAneny in the leg and another nipped off the end of a bystander's thumb.

Jar 8 oz., 24c. Macy's price was 36c.

Jar 16 oz., 42c. Macy's price was 59c.

Cold Cream (Macy) is prepared in the Macy Laboratories at 512 to 527 West 35th Street. It is made according to the most expensive and best formula, sweet almond oil being the chief ingredient.

Many Cold Creams on the market to-day contain as their chief ingredient cheap mineral oils, which are not as soothing and healing as the genuine sweet almond oil, and therefore are not as efficacious in keeping the skin in a perfect condition.

Cold Cream (Macy), made with sweet almond oil, costs you less than other Cold Creams of questionable quality.

The Macy Laboratories also produce for theatrical purposes a safe theatrical Cold Cream priced at 39c. the pound. This Cold Cream is made of the same formula as most of the ordinary Cold Creams on the market to-day. That is, it lacks the healing, soothing qualities of Cold Cream (Macy), but is equally efficient for removing theatrical make-up.

Fifty running feet of glass cases are devoted to Imported Soaps, Creams and Toilet products representing the products of the leading manufacturers of England, Germany, France, Russia, Italy, Spain, Turkey and Austria.
